Bill,

Reference your enthusiastic support of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, specifically your recent presentation at one of their seminars on Chinese industrial and economic resources. You've set a good example for us all.

It is a pleasure to see intelligence professionals of your caliber who are willing to exert the extra time and effort required to share specialized expertise with senior military officers in an academic forum. I applaud your enterprise in their behalf, and add my personal compliments to those of Major General Wheeler.

Well done!
